

PARENTS' DAY ATTRACTS MANY HERE TODAY

Miss Alice Napier, professor emerita of mathematics, was honored this morning at the Parents' Day program. A recent portrait of her, painted by Frank Herring, was unveiled by officers of the Granddaughters' Club. This organization and the Alumnae Association are co-sponsors of this annual occasion.

MISS ALICE NAPIER
whose picture will be unveiled in chapel Saturday.

Phoenix Names New Members

Five seniors have been named members of Phoenix Society, which is composed of the upper seven percent of the senior class, scholastically.

The new members are Linda Addy, Virginia Austin, Helen Burton, Lala Frances Carr, and Martha Lois Roberts. Two other students will be chosen this spring.

Two seniors, Rebecca Mulligan, and Ivie Lee Smith, who were admitted to Phoenix last spring are included on this year's roll.

FRESHMAN VOTE TO ACCEPT HONOR SYSTEM

Well over the majority of the individual freshman instructional units voted to accept the honor system this week. Twenty-five of the thirty-two classes were in favor of this system. The report of several of the other classes is not complete.

P.T.A. Group Hears Miss Louise Smith

A talk by Miss Louise Smith of the Health Department at the Georgia State College for Women, was the main feature at the meeting Wednesday afternoon of the Peabody High School Parent-Teacher Association.

Miss Smith discussed physical defects of school age children, and her talk was the first in a series of health programs planned by the P.T.A. for the current year. She was introduced by Mrs. N. C. King, who was in charge of the program.

Mrs. James M. Salter reported on the zone meeting held last Friday in Sparta. Mrs. L. R. McCoy conducted the business session.

Following the program a social hour was held.

The portrait is a gift to the college by the Alumnae Association and other friends of Miss Napier.

Mrs. Vernon Wallace, a graduate of GSCW in 1918, was the main speaker on the program held in Russell auditorium at 11 o'clock. She is personnel director for the Bibb Manufacturing company, Macon.

Favorite Passages Read

At the request of Miss Napier, the scripture readings for the morning program were the favorite scripture passages of the four presidents of GSCW—the late Dr. Joseph H. Chappell; the late Dr. Marvin M. Parks, Dr. Jasper Luther Baeson, president emeritus, and Dr. Guy H. Wells.

Others participating in the program were Miss Sarah McDowell, 1939 graduate and president of the Alumnae Association; Grata Bell, president of the Granddaughters' Club; Miss Beatrice Horsbrough, violinist; and Mrs. W. H. Allen, pianist.

Lunch on Campus

Lunch will be served on front campus today to all students and visitors.

This is the fourth annual Parents' Day, sponsored by the Granddaughters' Club and Alumnae Association. In accordance with the tire and gas rationing program this year, there is no competition, as formerly, among the dormitories for the largest percentage of parents present.

ANNUAL HIKE

The annual hike will be held at Treanor's Meadow this year instead of out at the lake because of the objection to using school buses for such trips. The meadow is in walking distance of the school and is the site that was used for the annual hike in former years.

Twelve Students Named Members Of Who's Who

Students Study Canning Here

The rural problems class and students who are living in the home management houses met at the community canning plant Friday, October 19th, and proceeded to can about 100 cans of apples and pears. The food canned will be used in the home management houses and in the school lunchroom. But the students had another purpose for canning, that of learning how to preserve food on a large quantity basis in community canning plants so that next year they can assist the people of the community where they will work in the National Food for Freedom Campaign.

The students who are learning how to operate the community canning plant find encouragement in an announcement by Miss Elizabeth Mayes, state supervisor of vocational education in homemaking, that home economics teachers in Georgia who worked in community canning plants during the summer—including those who graduated at GSCW last year—supervised the canning of over two million cans of food during the season.

LATE FLASH!

Washington — The Navy announced that Women's Naval Reserve Enlisted Corps members will be trained at GSCW, sent letter intent for use of campus. No contract yet, but first class starts on January 15th, with 400.

Ten Seniors And Two Juniors Named To Honorary Organization

Twelve students, including nine seniors and three juniors, were named members of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

Former Home Ec Students Teaching

Forty-seven students from last year's graduating class in home economics education are now teaching homemaking education in the vocational program in Georgia. They are:

Marion Adair, Bronwood; Catherine E. Adams, Nancy Hart school, Hartwell; Virginia Bankston, Gordon Military College (high school), Barnesville; Mary Ellen Battle, Imperial Mills and Briar Patch Schools, Eatonton; Harriet Benson, Morven; Elizabeth Biles, Nevils High School, Statesboro; Grace Boyd, Lawrenceville; Bonnie Brown, Tate; Betty Buie, Nashville; Esther Carter, Loganville.

Margaret Clark, Alapaha; Mary Jane Clark, Pulaski; Agnes Cronin, Maysville; Freida Darcey, Cairo; Doris Estes, Omega; Mary Ellen Platt, Montezuma; Martha Garner, Sugar Hill High school, Buford; Mary Eva Gay, Tennessee; Mary Gibbs, Wrightsville; Lois Grant, Harrison; Beryl Harper, Reed Creek school, Hartwell; Runette Hitchcock, Rhine; Libby Hubert, Cadwell.

Lala Frances Carr, Milledgeville, member of Phoenix.

New junior members are: Ethel Hembree, Atlanta, vice-president of YWCA.

Jane Sparks, College Park, grand director of Alpha Psi Omega.

Other members are Betty Jordan, Elizabeth Horne, and Kathryn McGriff, who were elected last year.

These three students and a faculty committee named the new members of Who's Who. Seniors, juniors, and faculty members submitted names of students to be considered for membership.

The faculty committee was composed of Miss Iva Chandler, Dr. Sara Nelson, Miss Cynthia Mallory, Dr. Paul Boesen, and Dean Hoy Taylor.

Jane Sparks Heads Cast For New Play "Letters To Lucerne," To Be Given Nov. 5th

By MARY BREWTON

The temporary casting is as follows:

Jane Sparks, grand director of Alpha Psi Omega, and president of Jesters—Olga, German girl.

Patsy Ingle — Emma, a Polish girl.

Irma Jean Stephens—Felice, a French girl.

Martha Wright—Marian, an English girl.

Fay Carpenter—Sally, a Canadian girl.

Marion Stewart—Mrs. Hunter, head mistress of Lucerne boarding school.

Sally Williams — Margaretha, the German Cook.

Phyllis Pierce—Miss Linder, assistant head-mistress.

JANE SPARKS

The role of Bingo, an American girl, is yet to be assigned.

The play, which is set in a girls' boarding school in Switzerland before the outbreak of World War II, revolves around the circumstances that arise when the school follows a tradition born in World War I and remains open despite the mixed nationalities of the students, and the students insist on following a custom of theirs—that of each girl's reading at night the letters she had received during the day.

"Letters to Lucerne" is the first of a series of three plays, which will be presented throughout the year by the College Theatre. The titles of the others will be announced at a later date.

Haslam Speaks On Writing To Sell

Mr. George Haslam spoke to members of Scribblers' Club, campus organization for writers, on "Writing to Sell." The group met at the home of Miss Hallie Smith, adviser, Friday afternoon, October 9th.

Plans were made to keep a club scrapbook, composed of contributions from the club members.

New members selected to join include Josephine Hunt, Jewel Willis, Frances Ridgeway, Gertrude Ehrlich, Marjorie Martin, and Evelyn Pope.

Week's Addresses Stress Need For Universal Christianity

By MARJORIE SHEPARD

We need to hold strongly to our profession of faith, emphasized Dr. John Melton, Thursday morning. Pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Rome, he led the programs for Religious Emphasis Week, sponsored by the YWCA.

In continuing Dr. Melton stated that we have wandered from God, that we are holding to our faith. He said that every soul is tempted and that it is easy to drift, unconcerned with the ways of life.

Dr. Melton told of the steps in Christian living, the necessity of considering others.

"The Church needs Jesus Christ." He stressed the need for placing emphasis on denominationalism and petty creeds, and that we turn to the real Church, the Church of God.

Dr. Melton conducted services at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. this week, Monday through Thursday. His addresses have been developed around the theme of Christianity as the way of life which we, as individuals and as citizens, must adopt in order to attain the ultimate goal of inward, as well as external, peace and happiness for each of us, and for the world as a whole.

The chapel program on Monday opened the institute, and Mr. Melton stated that whatever changes are accomplished must be motivated from one's own heart and mind, and that a man's thoughts alone determine what that man is. Monday evening he described Christian love as the energy in life, the strong power in the world today upon which we must build the desired world of tomorrow. He further averred that this life's energy can be directed toward improvement and that a person's intellect is its guide.

Tuesday morning, Dr. Melton continued with the idea of "a changed heart means a changed world," and spoke of us as the Biblical "Egypt in Bondage" striving toward the freedom of Arabia. Throughout his lectures, he emphasized the irrevocable necessity of our complete realization of the meaning of Christianity, from a deep, compassionate understanding of our fellows to a profound sense of the Divine.

In collaboration with the Religious Emphasis programs, led by Dr. Melton, dormitory parleys were held each night. Pastors of the local churches and several faculty members led these discussions based on subjects discussed in the regular morning and evening programs.

Home Ec Seniors Give Waffle Supper

Dawberry, bursar, will be hosts to the delegates, representing the chief business offices of the colleges throughout Georgia, Alabama, Florida, North and South Carolina.

This will mark the first time a southern regional meeting has included delegates from five states. Several national officers will participate in the two-day program.

SWIMMING POOL OPENS

The GSCW swimming pool is open Tuesday and Friday afternoons at 4:45-5:45 and Saturday afternoon at 2:45-4:45. Two Red Cross life savers will be on duty during all plunge periods.

Group Portrays Life, Elements, In Terpsichorean Presentation

The Graff Ballet will appear here in concert next Wednesday night at 8:30. This program, ranging from intensely dramatic to lyrical and humorous selections, will be the first of the season's concerts of the Milledgeville Cooperative Association. It will be in Russell auditorium.

The Graff Ballet is composed of young men and women who find the medium of dance the most powerful means of portraying the drama of the world. The dances, composed by Grace and Kurt Graff, have such themes as those of romance, life and death, sunshine, wind, and laughter.

"Vintage—1912"

"Vintage—1912," for example, roars with fun and rhythm as the dancers, in costumes that are fantastic caricatures of clothes worn when the first jazz craze swept America, give their impression of early American ragtime.

But, in a complete change of mood, the Graff Ballet depicts death in the midst of life in "Ode to the Living." It is a dance of two women who meet death, one whose taste for life has scarcely been awakened, and one who eager love of life finds release only in the gentle arms of death. The work is a dance-drama of deep feeling and great intensity.

THE PROGRAM

The following dances will be given:
I. Fanfare (Joseph Hawes)—Grace and Kurt Graff and entire company.
II. A Garden Party (David Sheinfeld)—Anne Devine and Kurt Graff and entire company.
III. Dance of Peace (Joseph Hawes)—Grace Graff.
IV. Ode to the Living (Joseph Hawes)—Grace and Kurt Graff and entire company.
Intermission

V. Vintage — 1912 (Popular Medley)—Grace and Kurt Graff, with Dorothy Davies, Anne Devine, Olga Di' Nunzio, Ida Gal-ler, Ethel Sarasohn, Van John Boran, Edwin Gibson, and Walter Rock.

VI. Creature of the Night (Maurice Ravel)—Kurt Graff.

VIII. Romance (Eric Satie)—Grace and Kurt Graff.

VIII. Singing Earth (Joseph Hawes)—Grace and Kurt Graff, with Dorothy Davies, Anne Devine, Olga Di' Nunzio, Ida Gal-ler, Ethel Sarasohn, Van John Boran, Edwin Gibson, and Walter Rock.

A scene from the Graff Ballet, which will appear here Wednesday night as the first number of the Milledgeville Concert Association series.

Wilson, Keel Are Tumbling Officers

Margaret Wilson was elected president of the Tumbling Club at the first meeting Wednesday night. Myrtle Keel is now secretary-treasurer.

Honor System In Effect

Our classes here at GSCW are now on the honor system. Does not this better illustrate the faith our instructors and classmates have in our integrity than anything else could? Moreover, it proves that minds and consciences at GSCW have grown. A few short years ago, no instructor would have nonchalantly walked out of a classroom after putting examination questions on the board; no student would have expected him to do so. However, today, we and our teachers realize that students are true to a trust and capable of punishing any infringement of that trust.

The Honor System at GSCW has been a startling success. Its success has proved that GSCW students are mature enough to manage for themselves, collectively and individually, a situation which is ticklish at best. Through us the Honor System can reach even greater heights. An organization which builds faith, self-confidence, trust, and integrity deserves the whole-hearted support which we feel is its due.

Don't Waste That Music!

We all enjoy our juke boxes record players, and pick-ups. We have enjoyed them for years. Perhaps that is why we fail to realize that we must treat them like egg-shells now. The college has placed some sort of record player in most of the dormitory recreation halls, but due to various priorities, it will be impossible to secure parts to repair any of these record players that are broken. We must realize that our patriotism should reach every phase of our lives. We can not merely accelerate our college program or knit for the Red Cross; we must cooperate with our government in every demand it makes of us.

We would rather believe that our attitude concerning the treatment of dormitory record players is merely thoughtless. However, we must remember that when these are gone there will be no more. If patriotism and thrift do not demand that we respect community property, courtesy does. Remember, when these are gone, there will be no more.

Welcome, Parents and Friends

To parents and other friends of the college, we extend a hearty welcome to our campus on this, the fourth annual Parents' Day.

We believe that this occasion is a highlight of the year, not simply because classes do not meet but because our parents and friends are to experience this college atmosphere with us, who are so conscious of it for nine or more months a year.

We welcome you and invite you to spend the day not only with your daughter but also with her friends, both students and faculty members. Enjoy the campus—the dormitories, academic and other buildings, because today is your day at GSCW. We want you to enjoy all of it.

We acknowledge the Granddaughters Club and Alumnae Association for their sponsoring this Parent's Day. A smaller group is attending today than in previous years because of limitation of transportation facilities. However, this need not, and should not effect the spirit of this happy day.

WIT'S END

We Are Fighting For Ideals Let's Stick To Them Always

By JEWELL WILLIE

Walking across the campus last Sunday, we heard one girl say to another—"There's no room for idealism, now. What we've got to do is fight to win this war."

We could not help shivering just a little when we heard this for in this war, we are fighting for ideals—ideals which have made our life what we have known it to be. These ideals developed a school system which gave each of us a high school education, and are the reason that we're being allowed to stay in college as long as possible. These ideals are teaching us to fight.

Every war, either foreign or domestic, which we have fought was fought for the ideals which many people—for that girl was echoing the belief of persons in every walk of life all over the nation—are declaring useless for the duration. Only by clinging to our ideals can we hope to "win the war or win the peace after." The results of discarding ideals was vividly shown in the post-war period of the 1920's. In that instance, ideals were discarded after the war was won, but the loss of ideals caused another war.

How can we fight for democracy, which is the grandest structure of ideals in the world, if we do not fight with ideals? How can we live in a democracy after the war if we discard democratic ideals now?

"Why Don't We Do This More Often?"

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

Why do teachers have to mark us tardy for coming in a little after the bell rings, but yet keeps us after class for 20 or 30 minutes—and never think a thing about it.

Don't you think that something should be done about this? After all, students who have other classes to meet and they have to meet them on time.

Then too, shouldn't teachers realize that you have other lessons to get up besides one teacher's own assignment?

Frankly, I think teachers should be considerate of other people.

A SENIOR.

Editor's Note:

We are not in a position to express our opinion on this subject nor are we capable. However, we realize that such a situation exists, and therefore, we invite any faculty members, that wish, to express their opinions on this situation through the mediums of this column.

The World This Week

By JANE BIVINS

All eyes and ears have been turned to Washington this week as President Roosevelt in "A Fire-Side Chat" Monday night, gave an optimistic report on what he found on his recent tour of defense plants, army posts and naval stations, and called for a rationing of manpower. He urged the drafting of 18 and 19 year olds and outlined two objectives.

"First to select and train men of the highest fighting efficiency needed for our armed forces."

"Second, to man our war industries and farms with workers needed to produce the arms, munitions and food required by ourselves and our fighting allies to win this war."

Poll Tax Act Passes

In the same city the Poll Tax Act passed the House by a vote of 252 to 84, Tuesday, and the National Housing Administrator announced that privately-owned homes and buildings would be leased by the government to house war workers. The OPA also made a statement that motorists would be limited to five tires per car beginning next month, and at least enough gas to drive 2,880 miles per year.

This has also been a week of optimistic reports for the allied forces. Jap forces have been handed a terrific beating at both ends of the Pacific, the Solomon and the Aleutian Islands, by the United States Navy and Marines. The German siege at Stalingrad has been halted but it is known that strong reinforcements are on the way to take the city.

Attacks in Germany

The Royal Air Force bombers made daylight attacks on several places in Western Germany, including Hanover, and also swept over the coastal region of occupied France the Air Ministry announced, Tuesday.

Meanwhile Australian bombers, operating from Egypt, attacked a harbor in Crete, and started fires that could be seen for 50 miles. Heavy shipments of American armaments have arrived from the United States in Egypt.

Campus Fashions

By HAZEL SMITH

Clothes around the campus this week have been terrifically flattering! I declare you couldn't have found a better looking bunch of "Jeseles" anywhere—not even with a microscope and a copy of Mademoiselle. By the way, in case you're near sighted or just unobserving, a few of the outstanding styles being on these girls:

Sara Jo Nutt is Miss Glamour Girl herself in her red crepe dress! The skirt is very full and the blouse is sprinkled with tiny gold metal dots. The sleeves are three-quarter length.

"Vicke" Haley looks "fetching" in her soft wool jersey dress. It is brown with tan ABC's written around the hem of the full skirt. The blouse has a gathered neckline and is trimmed in tan.

Joan De Witt's grey and blue plaid outfit will knock your eyes out! The skirt is pleated all around and the skirt has pockets and long sleeves.

A big red and black plaid skirt looks as crisp as a fresh potato chip! Mary Frances Moorehead wears a black short-sleeved sweater with hers.

Carolyn Hall trips around the campus in a stunning brown linen suit. The skirt is flared and the short-sleeved jacket is fitted. She wears a white silk blouse with it.

Melba Hale looks like an elf in an iron grey corduroy flared skirt and bright red corduroy skirt. She wears green and red figured moccasins with her "catchy" outfit.
